PO Box 40940, Providence RI 02940

Contact: Stuart Nunnery, Director

Email: ricape@cox.net

Phones: (401) 592-0209 - - - FAX:

Purpose: The mission of the Rhode Island Center for Agricultural Promotion and Education is to keep Rhode Island's farms viable, strengthen pride of place and enhance quality of life by reinforcing the connections between people and agriculture through programs and activities that nurture our young, build public awareness, inspire engagement and cultivate knowledge, values and skills. What we believe: Rhode Island is a special place. Its farms and fields are a continuing source of new life and activity. The maintenance of agricultural activity produces an essential variety of food, fiber and greenery that sustains RI's economic vitality, conserves natural and human resources, and preserves its quality of life. Now two, three and even four generations removed from our agrarian past, future generations of Rhode Islanders must receive the inspiration, education and training to keep RI growing.
